Championing the DEMENTIA FRIENDLY INITIATIVE throughout Dane County Since 2013
MESSAGE FROM JOE PARISI,
DANE COUNTY EXECUTIVE

Since first championing the dementia friendly initiative in 2013, we at Dane County have worked hard to become a dementia friendly community.

From trainings and memory care kits to regular meetings and community events, we have made great strides in raising awareness about dementia, bettering our community, and creating a network of resources for those in need of a helping hand.

I applaud the efforts of our ADRC staff, the Dementia Friendly Community Coalitions of Dane County, and the many volunteers who have dedicated themselves to making this initiative such a success for the past six years.

Our dementia friendly initiative ties into the ADRC of Dane County’s larger mission of supporting seniors, adults with disabilities, their families, and caregivers. Whether it be our high school transition program, disability benefit specialists, or long-term care options counseling, we will continue to operate as a one stop shop for those in search of information or assistance.

The ADRC is a vital part of Dane County’s Department of Human Services. We have helped countless Dane County residents find the resources they need when they might not know where else to turn, and I thank our staff for carrying out these efforts.

2018 was a fulfilling year for the ADRC of Dane County, and I look forward to continuing our hard work well into the future.

MAKING
DANE COUNTY
DEMENTIA
FRIENDLY

Thank You

The information in this report came from submissions from organizations and community leaders involved. We apologize if we have left out any information.

ADRC of Dane County | Dementia Friendly Community Impact Report - 2018 | Page 3
Dementia Friendly communities, businesses & organizations are trained to understand and respond to:

- Signs of dementia
- Causes of dementia
- Ways to better communicate with a person living with memory loss and dementia
- Ways to support friends and neighbors living with or caring for someone with dementia
- Resources available
- How to get help

A dementia friendly community is one that has looked at its environment through the eyes of a person with dementia, then does everything it can to make it a place where they can continue to live as independently as possible. When memory changes begin, many become more isolated, which frequently hastens the cognitive decline. A community that understands dementia will be one that supports and cares for its neighbors who are struggling to deal with loss of memories, loss of the ability to do routine activities, loss of jobs, loss of independence, and loss of self.
We celebrate the Dane County communities, businesses and organizations that have joined the initiative to make Dane County Dementia Friendly. We appreciate your continued efforts to provide consistent messaging about what it means to be Dementia Friendly and to implement new methods and procedures to facilitate this. During 2018, more businesses and organizations have embraced and championed this initiative to understand and better serve community members who are affected by memory loss.

We will highlight a few accomplishments made within communities, businesses and organizations and state their Dementia Friendly goals for the future.

Reflecting back on 2018 makes me feel so proud of all the work that Dane County Dementia Friendly Coalition volunteers are doing. It has been a year of new programs, routines and systems. I have loved watching the groups grow and evolve over the past five years since the concept of Dementia Friendly Communities first came to Dane County. I feel so fortunate to be a small part of the great success that has happened in our communities to increase awareness of Alzheimer’s disease and related dementias and the number of programs and supports for those affected.

We have seen events like Middleton’s Living Well with Dementia Resource Fair and their Make A Memory at the Middleton conservancy continue to flourish. I have loved watching communities establish new memory cafés in Oregon, Cottage Grove, Stoughton, South Madison, Mount Horeb, Monona and Middleton. It also has been a joy to observe the collaborative approach of these Dane County folks in sharing their concepts of Memory Kits at libraries, senior centers and memory cafés and making them available to those in need. We have appreciated the support of the Area Agency on Aging (AAA) office in supporting these Memory Cafes with both funding and publicity.

There have been great opportunities to work with area hospitals and clinics as they work to meet the needs of their patients with dementia as well as helping us spread the word in the community. We participated in information sharing, meetings and conferences across the county, state, country and even the world as we shared our best practices for Dementia Friendly Communities and hospitals. Dr. Mary Wyman shared the work being done both here and at the VA Hospital with an international audience at a conference in Germany. Locally, Heather Kleinbrook with Stoughton Hospital has been recognized for her work in spearheading the first Dementia Friendly Hospital initiative in Wisconsin and she, Stacy Austin-Li and I were able to share the work being done in Dane County at the State Alzheimer’s Association Conference. Dane County’s work is being shared through webinars with Dementia Friendly America and through various national conferences where Kristen Felten at the Wisconsin State Department of Health Services has been a presenter.

By working together, communities have been able to breach the “silos” and increase the level of communication between groups and departments. We have seen first responders, libraries, senior centers, faith-based groups, clubs, and businesses come together to support people affected by dementia. Collaboration is one of the main goals of a Dementia Friendly Community.

The UW-Madison School of Nursing recently completed its Dementia Friendly Toolkit which includes videos and training that is available for community members.

Despite the disaster-related challenges that Sun Prairie has had as a community, they are nearing completion of a dementia awareness training film created by their library and media center and continue to make progress on their goals.

The Dementia Friendly Financial Group met its goal to create a banking-specific training program that will now be available twice yearly, as well as offering information on advanced directives at a community event.

I am reminded often about the reason we are doing this work. Here is an example from a volunteer: “When my husband and I were visiting our friend with dementia, she told us about the meeting she’d had with her tax attorney earlier that day. At one point in the meeting, she realized she needed some documents from her bank in order to proceed. When she called the bank, the Banker she spoke to offered to drive the documents directly to her right then & there! I asked what bank it was, and she said ‘Chase’. We all put aside our stereotypes for a minute (thinking a bank that big would NEVER do something so kind) and as we pondered this, she proudly stated, ‘they’re Dementia Friendly!’” — Erika Kearney, Dementia Friendly Volunteer
FROM THE DESK OF THE DEMENTIA CARE SPECIALIST

Everything we hear from others when they learn about the work that is happening in Dane County and the State of Wisconsin reminds us of the benefit of living in a place that cares about its people living with dementia and the people who care for them. There certainly have been challenges along the way, but these past five years have given us experience, strength and inspiration to create sustainable programs that will carry us forward. I am looking forward to the next five years, and beyond: WHO IS WITH ME?!

SUCCESS STORIES:

River Valley Bank and Madison Metro are two businesses which have taken the Dementia Friendly Training above and beyond the call of duty.

⇒ River Valley has trained its own Dementia Champions and is training all of its branches across the state and in Northern Michigan.

⇒ Madison Metro has filmed its employee training program and has printed information about being a dementia friendly business on all of its buses and passes.

Willy St. Co-op North let us know that they had a concern about one of their customers who has been more confused lately. They worked together with the ADRC staff, senior services, the mental health officers with Madison Police and the family to help improve their services and provide a safer, more accepting environment for this customer.

ROLE OF THE DEMENTIA CARE SPECIALIST

The Dementia Care Specialist (DCS) helps facilitate and encourage collaboration and sharing between Dementia Friendly Coalition Groups across Dane County. In addition, the DCS works with those who have concerns about memory loss or who care for someone with cognitive impairment due to Alzheimer’s disease or other progressive neurocognitive diseases.

The meeting led to working with the Cambridge Wellness Collaborative, a group of community members/organizations/businesses who are interested in improving the health and wellness of the Cambridge community. This group is made up of local business members, the Cambridge School District, the Cambridge Community Activities Program, Cambridge EMS, and other individuals and organizations.

On October 16, Cambridge held a Train The Trainer course with over 20 attendees.

The Cambridge Wellness Collaborative looks forward to spearheading the drive to have Cambridge become more Dementia Friendly in 2019.

"I was very pleased to see so many individuals, businesses and organizations represented at the training. It was very impressive to see all support and willingness to learn how to make our community better for those living with dementia and their caregivers."

Dementia Friendly Middleton started in 2014 as a community coalition made up of volunteers including citizens whose lives have been affected by dementia, members from the senior housing and care fields and other professionals. Our mission is to decrease stigma and isolation surrounding dementia through education. We accomplish this through training staff at area businesses, community outreach events, and community education programming.

2018 HIGHLIGHTS:
We organized the Living Well with Dementia Community Resource Fair, which was held November 10th at St. Luke’s Church with over 30 resources and agencies for families represented. Programming included workshops for both financial and health care Power of Attorneys, a panel discussion looking at health and wellness for persons living with dementia and another panel featuring persons living with dementia and caregivers sharing their journeys. Approximately 50 people attended the fair, with many remarking that the ability to have open and honest face-to-face conversations with such a wide variety of local resources in a positive and open atmosphere was extremely valuable.

2018 ACCOMPLISHMENTS:
⇒ BUSINESS OUTREACH: Ten businesses have been trained or retrained, bringing the total number of organizations that have received training in Middleton to 58. Middleton business partner River Valley Bank implemented an intentional dementia friendly training program of all locations in Wisconsin and Michigan, for which it was recognized by industry publications as an innovator. Dementia Friendly Middleton was a charity partner with the Downtown Middleton Business Association for the Fall Wine Walk, which provided time with both business owners and community participants. We are fielding a survey of trained businesses to help shape sustainability and involvement efforts.

⇒ COMMUNITY OUTREACH: Dementia Friendly Middleton members started both a new caregiver support group and a new memory café. In addition, members were active in supporting “Make a Memory Day” at Pheasant Branch Conservancy, a facilitated outdoor experience with activities designed to stimulate all 5 senses and in supporting intergenerational programs through Music and Memory by assisting with Virtual Dementia tours for students at Clark Street Community School. Dementia Friendly Middleton had a table at our community National Night Out in August. In addition we teamed up with Brookdale Senior Living to distribute over cardholders with "Please be patient" cards around Middleton. The Middleton Library continues to host Adult educational programming around dementia provided by the Alzheimer’s and Dementia Alliance.

GOALS FOR 2019:
⇒ Reinvigorate business outreach; work with our city and county parks to include dementia friendly design in the five-year plan.
⇒ Integrate efforts across the community to further weave dementia friendly concepts throughout the community.
IMPACT STORIES FROM MIDDLETON

River Valley Bank in Middleton:
The Middleton committee reached out to Rhonda Lewis, Senior Administrative Assistant at the River Valley Bank, who agreed to offer the training in Middleton. Rhonda was impressed by the training and contacted the corporate office’s HR team about making this training available for all locations. Today, all 15 locations in Wisconsin and Michigan have training. This story really highlights the importance of finding a “champion” at each trained business to make sure these ideas stay at the forefront and employees are receiving the training periodically as refreshers.

Walgreens on Mineral Point Road:
Received the training in August 2016. Scott Sable, the manager, had worked at the Branch Street location in Middleton when he received the training and remembered it when he became manager for the Mineral Point road location.

Scott really likes the training because it provides employees with different solutions and communication methods to help not only elderly individuals with dementia, but other older customers who may also just need a little extra time.

Changes to the store since:
- Completely eliminated floor displays; found them distracting. Now the store is easier to navigate, less cluttered.
- Developed a warm customer handoff procedure. If there’s a customer who needs to speak with the pharmacist, the employee will walk them over to the pharmacy and help brief the pharmacist on what it is they need assistance with. Helps to ensure people are not just telling someone “oh, it’s over there” and not providing further assistance.
- Tried to incorporate concepts into new employee orientation: have scenarios where they do some role-playing. One of those role playing scenarios has become a senior customer. Teaching about checking for understanding, making sure you bring them to the product, etc.
- Introduced the concept of leading older individuals to the exact product they are looking for. Rather than just saying “oh it’s over there around the corner”, actually taking them to the product.
- Discussed the fact that at a previous store Scott worked at, they had an employee who herself had cognitive issues. One day she had left her car running after she came to work and the car was stolen. Noticed forgetful behavior. The store had tried to communicate with the woman’s family members about their concerns, but they seemed in denial. Discussed the difficulty of trying to navigate these situations. How do we talk to employees we might be concerned about?
- New senior apartment complex being built behind the strip mall that Walgreens inhabits. The store manager feels very strongly that all businesses in the strip mall should be trained, as many of these seniors will utilize the businesses in the strip mall.

UPS Store:
Brought up some of the ethical issues surrounding selling products to customers with dementia. If their buying activities are repetitive and you get a sense that the individual doesn’t remember buying the same products last week, or it seems unclear about why they might need to purchase the products, how do you manage that ethically?

On the one hand, could come off as taking advantage of the person if you’re accepting their business when you aren’t entirely comfortable with their cognition and motives. But on the other hand, can’t make assumptions about what an individual needs or if they have issues with cognition.
St. Luke’s Church

Training as a way to recognize that someone exhibiting aggressive behavior does not have ill intentions. The behaviors might be a result of cognitive issues, and we need to be continually sensitive to that. The benefit of having everyone trained at the church is that they can help to demonstrate the appropriate way to interact with someone who might have dementia. Serve as a model for others to follow.

Keller Williams

Agents were surprised with how different they should be interacting with those with dementia after the received they training. Raised awareness and helped the agents to have knowledge about resources that exist in the community that can be provided to clients. Increased awareness about just slowing down, taking a breath, and taking your time with someone.

Middleton Police Department

The training helped officers to understand what might be going on in a household if there is dementia present. Also helped officers responding to calls to understand that sometimes behavior might be a result of something more medical and they need to be aware of that possibility.

The police department offers, at their front windows, the cards where someone can indicate whether or not they have a memory impairment or the person with them does.

Has allowed the department to be more aware of police officers whose parents might have issues with dementia. Tries to send out information on new memory cafes or resources available, so the officers are aware of it for their personal use.

The department wants to help people recognize that they are a resource people can call if citizens interact with someone who is confused and might not know who they are or where they are. The police can aid in figuring out who that person is, and contacting loved ones.

General note about the outreach:

Has helped to really identify businesses that need a refresher training, or the full training again. Also helped to remind individuals of this training and the importance.

MEMORY CAFÉS

BUSINESS AS USUAL MEMORY CAFÉ

In collaboration with Common Ground Café, Middleton, a new Memory Café began hosting meetings in September. The Business As Usual Memory Café is held the second Tuesday of each month. Workers at Common Ground underwent a one hour “Dementia Friendly” training to prepare to meet patron needs during Memory Café hours. During each Business As Usual Memory Café meeting, patrons are encouraged to socialize, reminisce and enjoy an assortment of cards and games. We also offer materials to spark interaction and thinking. For example, each month we feature a “Reminisce Table” featuring personal stories and photos from early 20th Century life and an “Inspire Table” which explores something topical. Patron suggestions are always encouraged and we have been adapting to feedback.

In November, we received a grant from the Area Agency On Aging and patrons now enjoy free coffee, snacks, and entertainment at meetings. We hosted a Grand Opening Party and treated patrons to a breakfast buffet and folksy sing-along.

We look forward to seeing more awareness of the Business As Usual Memory Café and hope to serve an increasing number of patrons in 2019. It has been an honor to meet and spend time with those that have come out to the café so far.

FORGET-ME-NOTS — MIDDLETON
Our group is called the Forget-Me-Nots and it is designed for folks with early memory loss.

2018 HIGHLIGHTS:
⇒ We celebrated our second anniversary in September.
⇒ We had a Holiday party in December. We invited the care partners and our sing-along was led by one of our participants. It was a great event.

2018 ACCOMPLISHMENTS:
Our original design has held true. Beginning with exercises, brain games, and singing, we have added a section on “today in history” that has proven to prompt discussions. See below list of items purchased with grant money the Middleton Senior Center received to support the Forget-Me-Nots.

Items purchased:
⇒ Bluetooth CD player and 3 CDs for music portion
⇒ Books and games for “brain games”
⇒ Books and equipment for exercises
⇒ Middleton Chamber gift certificates for caregivers
⇒ Food Fight gift certificates for participants and caregivers
⇒ Various books for caregivers reference, and some for gifts relating to keeping love alive during Alzheimer’s journey

It would be great to start another group. We have grown and have a waiting list.

Here is what our care partners are saying.

“Forget-Me-Nots is like an extended family.”

“The folks at Forget-Me-Nots are angels.”

“Please thank everyone responsible for the gift certificate given to caregivers this morning at Forget-Me-Nots. It made me cry. Most of the time it feels as if nobody notices how hard I work to take care of Bill and I surely do not do it for any external rewards. Bill is the love of my life; I would do nothing less. That said, it still is the hardest job I have ever done. I am very grateful for the recognition.”

MEMORY CAFÉS

SUN PRAIRIE MEMORY CAFÉ

Established: August 13, 2015
Facilitators: Melody Riedel and Kim Peterson
Gatherings: Second Thursday each month from 9:30 am to 11:00 am
Location: Colonial Club Senior Center
Participants: Typically 10 - 16

2018 HIGHLIGHTS:
⇒ Celebrated our 3-year anniversary in August
⇒ Applied for and received a Natural Family Caregiver Support Program Memory Café grant. Funds are being used to purchase Cafe supplies, advertising, and items for the Memory/Caregiver Activity Kits.

ACTIVITIES
Over the years, we have hosted a variety of activities including a service dog demonstration, pumpkin decorating, the story of Hershey, painting with chocolate, viewing photos by a passionate bird watcher, a Qi Gong demonstration, and a trip to Sassy Cow complete with ice cream samples.

Some of our 2018 activities included chair yoga, planting flowers with Jung’s Garden Center (a dementia friendly business in Sun Prairie!), practicing mindfulness and meditation, viewing photos by a nature photographer, and playing “Roll the Dice Horse Racing”. To supplement our monthly themes, we also do crafts, play word games, test each other with trivia, and use “Chat Pack” cards to promote conversation and getting to know one another better.

We have developed several annual traditions as well. Each July we hold an outdoor cookout and play some fairly competitive (but fun!) rounds of bean bag. In October we play Halloween Candy Bingo, with a take-home candy bag for everyone. And in December we hold a holiday luncheon at a local restaurant which includes the popular “Pass the Gift Bag” game.

“It has been a real privilege to host this Café, to get to know these families, and to be a part of bringing them together in an environment that promotes acceptance and social connection. Most gratifying is watching the development of friendships and relationships of mutual support amongst participants, and knowing that for at least a little while, their dementia journey may feel a little less overwhelming. Participants often express gratitude to us as they depart, and fellow participants often exchange hugs as they leave – evidence that our goal of social connection has been successful!!”

~Kim Peterson

In 2018, the Center for Aging Research and Education (CARE) at the University of Wisconsin–Madison School of Nursing launched a “Dementia Friendly Toolkit” for community members, family members, retail workers, service providers, direct care and professional staff (learn more at https://care.nursing.wisc.edu/dementia-friendly-toolkit/). The toolkit includes four short training videos and a booklet with all information needed to carry out six role-play exercises designed to reflect common challenges faced by people living with dementia. It was designed to build communication and advocacy skills to respectfully engage people living with dementia.

2018 HIGHLIGHTS:

⇒ CARE launched the year-long toolkit project in response to family caregivers’ stories of challenging medical appointments, community groups’ requests for dementia friendly training materials, and the increasing number of people living with dementia.

⇒ CARE tested the toolkit, first with School of Nursing students, then with UW–Madison students from other health sciences and allied disciplines, and then with community members involved in dementia friendly community efforts.

FEEDBACK FROM PARTICIPANTS IN TOOLKIT SESSIONS INCLUDED:

The most profound moment for me was when a student noted that applying the communication techniques did not take any more time than rushing through a clinic visit with a set agenda. When the students playing the roles of healthcare provider and family caregiver included the person living with dementia in the conversation, the visit went more smoothly and everyone felt better about the outcome without taking up more precious clinic time.

~Sarah Endicott, DNP, APNP, GNP-BC, Clinical Associate Professor

It was really helpful to see common situations from the side of persons with dementia.

~Undergraduate Nursing Student

Having a few simple changes that you can make with your verbal and nonverbal presentation is really useful.

~Physical Therapy Student

The role plays were effective in imagining being both the person with dementia and the other roles, which is important for empathy.

~Community Member

Made me think about even being more attentive to the families’ concerns and needs.

~Nursing Graduate Student

- Presented a certificate of recognition from the UW–Madison Chancellor's office to the Dementia Friendly Community Coalitions of Dane County for outstanding collaboration in embodiment of the Wisconsin Idea.

- CARE is offering free Dementia Friendly Toolkits with simulation equipment to 100 community groups across the state. The kits will be delivered by March.

- CARE will bring our service-learning course "Community supports for people with dementia" back to the School of Nursing in summer.

First Congregational United Church of Christ, Madison, established in 1840, has called the red brick building with the white tower on the corner of Old University and Breese Terrace home since 1930. Brining this nearly 90-year-old building up to date has been the goal of the Congregation for the past several years. The First Congregational Accessibility Committee works to empower and advocate for individuals of all abilities, explore and promote means to make First Congregational Church’s physical structure and programming, more accessible to all, educate the wider community for awareness and action, and recognize and support the role of caregivers. For the past several years, the Accessibility Committee has chosen a focus to address with the congregation. The focus for 2018 was Dementia and Alzheimer’s Disease.

The ADRC was instrumental in educating the congregation of how best to recognize, and welcome, those with dementia. Thirty staff members, ushers, greeters, and members at large attended Dementia Friendly Training workshops to learn to better offer a personal welcome. Steps have been taken to make an old building easier to navigate. The congregation also continues to foster and nurture a monthly Caregivers Support Group.

An annual September Accessibility Service highlights that year’s focus, and offers the congregation a chance to renew their commitment to welcome all. The 2018 service gave five individual members an opportunity to share their personal, and powerful, experience of coming to terms with, learning to live with, supporting, and in some cases, letting go of, a loved one diagnosed with dementia.

First Congregational Church will continue to strive to be a Dementia Friendly Community. Future programming will work to educate all ages in the congregation on the signs and tools to live up to our commitment to be a community welcome to all.
The Friends of Pheasant Branch organized as a not-for-profit organization in 1995. The City of Middleton established a Conservancy Lands Committee and, with the Dane County Parks Department, developed a long-range master plan for the conservancy. The Friends continue to collaborate with various partners to share the health benefits (physical and mental) through being outside with Mother Nature.

2018 HIGHLIGHTS:

⇒ The Friends of Pheasant Branch Conservancy’s Accessibility Committee has planned and implemented several successful activities, program events and various initiatives designed to support citizens and neighbors who have been unable to fully experience Nature at the Conservancy. A grant from the Bader Philanthropies Inc. has allowed the Friends to provide this support.

⇒ In 2018, Make a Memory events focused on individuals with cognitive challenges/dementia and their care partners. “Joy”, a video documentation of these events, is being produced to share various lessons learned from these events with other environmental and dementia friendly groups. (www.pheasantbranch.org)

ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

When the members of the Friends of Pheasant Branch Conservancy Board opened a dialogue about reaching out to underserved populations in the community and surrounding areas, one of the first suggestions was to form active partnerships with various organizations. The committee’s accomplishments the past few years have been linked to the establishment of collaborative partnerships. These partners have provided advice, guidance and volunteer hours to support the goals of the committee.

GOALS FOR 2019 & BEYOND:

A list of joint projects between the Friends of Pheasant Branch Conservancy and key government partners – the City of Middleton and Dane County – are listed below:

⇒ Mapping – development and printing of quadrant maps with designated rest areas (existent and new benches or boulders) and the estimated distance between them;

⇒ Signage – modification of trail signage to include simplified and standard language; possible inclusion of QRC codes;

⇒ “Slow Walks” – short walking loops for those with limited mobility and/or dementia in the Conservancy and city parks; and

⇒ The Accessibility and Use Committee views an on-going collaborative dialogue with the city and the county as primary to the implementation of their improvement plans (2018 – 2023).
Music & Memory is a non-profit organization that brings personalized music into the lives of the elderly or inform through digital music technology, vastly improving quality of life.

2018 HIGHLIGHT:
Music & Memory is now available through 15 Dane County libraries in order to serve community members living at home with the dementia. The program is made available at no cost through an Administration for Community Living grant.

2018 ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

⇒ In the spring of 2018 students from Clark Street Community School volunteered their time to interview community members at the Middleton Senior Center in order to create personalized playlists. In collaboration with four libraries, the students helped 12 community members find songs that connected them with their memories and emotions. Thank you to the Middleton, Rosemary Garfoot, Black Earth, and Alicia Ashman public libraries for the Music & Memory music kits.

⇒ On July 30 a group of middle school students from across the state participated in the Love Begins Here summer missionaries at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church in Cross Plains. The students learned about dementia, the Music & Memory program and spent the afternoon at Milestone Senior Living enjoying music with the residents. They sang along with the songs, played instruments and even learned how to polka!

⇒ Clark Street Community School students selected the Music & Memory 9-week session for the 2018/19 school year, making it the fifth time the session has been offered. A new experience added to this year’s session was a Virtual Dementia Tour facilitated by Joy Schmidt, Dementia Care Specialist with the ADRC of Dane County.

GOALS FOR 2019:

⇒ Educate and engage additional students on dementia, Music & Memory and connect them with local volunteer opportunities.

⇒ Expand the accessibility of Music & Memory at home kits to community members living at home with dementia throughout the state.

It was the ambition of one River Valley Bank - Middleton team member that drove the initiative to be recognized as dementia friendly in all 15 RVB bank locations in Wisconsin and Michigan’s Upper Peninsula. After receiving corporate approval in February, Rhonda Lewis set out to visit all 15 bank locations and conduct the trainings. Lewis, a member of the Dementia Friendly Middleton Coalition, the Dane County Dementia Friendly Financial Group, and a trainer herself, set up a week-long trek to the Wisconsin Northwoods bank locations (Wausau, Merrill, Rothschild, Tomahawk, Minocqua, and Eagle River) in April and to the U.P. in May to hold almost 30 sessions with team members. In those sessions, and subsequent sessions held later via video conference, Lewis trained approximately 150 team members. Almost 1416 miles were logged between Middleton and Marquette, Michigan and all points in between.

COLLABORATIONS:
Lewis reached out to the ADRC-Central Wisconsin, the ADRC-Northwoods, and UPCAP in Michigan to collaborate efforts and give all bank locations their respective sources to reach out to. “Individuals from these organizations also attended some of the sessions as well,” Lewis indicated.

River Valley Bank is the only bank in Wausau, Northwoods, and the U.P. that is recognized as being dementia friendly.

DEMENTIA FRIENDLY CHAMPIONS:
From the sessions held, 12 individuals volunteered to be trained to be trainers in their respective bank locations. They receive a listing from Human Resources of new team members from the previous quarter who should be trained on dementia friendly practices and then it is their responsibility to schedule the training sessions and provide attendance forms.

IN THE NEWS:
From a press release that was distributed, television and print media picked up on this initiative. Lewis was interviewed by a Rhinelander television station. Two television stations in the U.P. interviewed the respective locations’ market managers. A social media blast was launched, outdoor marquee and indoor television monitor messages were posted, all bank locations include the Dementia Friendly window decal and the RVB website includes not only a blog about being dementia friendly, but each location’s landing page includes the Dementia Friendly logo. RVB was also the recipient of Independent Banker’s “Most Innovative Community Banks” award received by only 20 banks nationwide. And Lewis, herself, received a quarterly recognition award, along with the bank president’s “Sunshine Award.”

2019 AND BEYOND:
River Valley Bank is committed to support the dementia friendly initiative in all its locations. RVB provides a very high level of customer service. It is only fitting that providing best practices to their team members on how to better understand memory loss and the possibility of financial implications from it is of the utmost importance. Lewis commented, “It’s the right thing to do.”
2018 HIGHLIGHT:
We finished our second year of SPARK! program. This year, the museum worked with so many wonderful partners: Madison Children’s Museum, Ian’s Pizza, Allen Centennial Garden, musician Stuart Stotts, the Wisconsin Center for Film and Theater Research, Oneida artist Karen Ann Hoffman, Wisconsin Tango, Dogs on Call, The Civil War Museum in Kenosha, and more!

2018 ACCOMPLISHMENTS/ACTIVITIES:

⇒ SPARK! facilitator Katie Shapiro presented on creative engagement in history museums at the annual SPARK! Conference.
⇒ The museum continues to partner with Attic Angel to provide monthly TimeSlips programs for its residents.

GOALS FOR 2019:

The Madison VA Hospital Dementia Friendly Hospital Task Force set a number of ambitious goals for 2018, and we are excited to say that we have attained many of them!

STAFF TRAINING: We made progress on our goals to improve the “Level 1” Dementia Friendly Hospital training by creating effective audiovisual aids, a VA-specific reminder card, and a more comprehensive pre-post evaluation. We also now offer DFH training within the new employee orientation curriculum. We are working on getting continuing education credits assigned to our training, and on continuing to train or re-train key services within the facility. Finally, we obtained grant funding to purchase additional training materials to help clinical staff improve person-centered care for our Veterans.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPROVEMENTS: This year, we obtained grant funding to create a dementia-friendly Peace Garden open to Veterans in care settings throughout the facility. Our construction team incorporated a requirement for Dementia Friendly design elements to be part of all future construction proposals. We continue to promote dementia awareness through education of staff and visitors about our dementia-friendly nature-themed clinic naming scheme.

DEMENTIA FRIENDLY CHAMPIONS: Our list of Champions continues to grow and come from a variety of services within the Madison VA system. Our Champions conduct staff trainings, develop dementia friendly materials, and help at our events. Six VA employees completed the Dementia Friendly Community Training offered by Dane County ADRC.

COLLABORATIONS: Early in 2018, we collaborated with the Wisconsin Alzheimer’s Institute and the Wisconsin Alzheimer’s Disease Research Center to spread the word about Dementia Friendly healthcare. We worked with Stoughton Hospital to present on Dementia Friendly healthcare at a conference in Germany. In October, we co-sponsored – with the VA Caregiver Support Program and the VA Geriatric Research Center – an event bringing former Governor Martin Schreiber to the VA for a talk and book signing about his dementia caregiving experience. We held a resource fair with community partners and offered Dementia Friendly Hospital training as part of the event.

GOALS FOR 2019:

- Broaden our Train the Trainer program to enhance staff training capacity for the ~2500 employees at Madison VA
- Continue roll-out of new clinical staff training tools for dementia care
- Conduct comprehensive evaluation of Level 1 staff training
- Launch an Older Veterans Engagement Group to ensure the voice of older patients and caregivers is incorporated into our planning
- Continue to strengthen collaborations within and outside of our facility

October 2018 — At the first anniversary event of being recognized as a Dementia Friendly Hospital, former Wisconsin Governor Martin Schreiber talked about his experiences as a caregiver of a person with dementia to the audience of employees and visitors.
There is growing interest in Dementia Friendly initiatives: programs designed to improve services and promote engagement for persons with dementia (PwD). We present an innovative “Dementia Friendly Hospital” (DFH) model which adopts a holistic approach to improving the healthcare experience for PwD. Six components include:

1) clinical staff training in person-centered care, 2) non-clinical staff training, 3) DFH environmental design improvements, 4) identifying DFH Champions among employees, 5) securing support from management, and 6) collaboration with the local community. We describe facilitators and barriers to implementation in a large Veterans Affairs medical center, with 2,000 employees serving 43,000 patients. A brief training for non-clinical staff led to a 30% increase in dementia knowledge, and system-wide improvements are continuing, including incorporation of DFH design principles into ongoing construction projects. This novel approach reflects system-community collaboration and represents a promising initiative for transforming healthcare culture and improving person-directed care for PwD.
